MONTREAL, Canada - April 30, 2026 – Cantech®, a leader in the pressure-sensitive tape industry and part of the IPG (Intertape Polymer Group) family, announced a strategic expansion of the iconic Tuck® Tape brand into the consumer retail market. This launch introduces a comprehensive suite of dependable adhesive solutions, featuring both innovative new products and rebranded favorites designed specifically for paint, hardware, and home packaging applications.

As part of this initiative, Tuck is launching a new line of high-performance carton sealing tapes, including Utility Packing Tape, Advance Packaging Tape, and Premium Shipping Tape, to meet various consumer shipping and storage needs. Additionally, several established high-performance products have been rebranded under the trusted Tuck name, including DuctPro® Clear, PlastiMask®, and Spray Adhesive.

“Presenting these products under a trusted and recognizable name creates a more confident buying experience for Canadian customers,” said Erica Medcraft of Cantech/IPG. “Tuck Tape has built meaningful trust over time, particularly in construction and retail markets, and that familiarity helps customers feel assured in their purchase decisions.”

The expanded product line is designed to provide a "one-stop" bundle of dependable tapes for end-users across multiple retail sectors, including:

- Construction, Paint and Hardware: Professional-grade masking and adhesive solutions for DIY and contractor projects.
- Office and Warehouse: Versatile packing tapes for secure shipping and organization.
